

Seventeen New Members
Join Middlebury Faculty

Nine more new faculty members have been appointed for the 1952-53 year according to an announcement by Dr. Stephen Freeman, vice-president of the college. Eight others were appointed and announced last spring bringing the total number of new faculty members to seventeen. In addition to these there are three ROTC professors and instructors who will hold faculty rank. Seven appointments result directly from the retirement last year of four full professors, and the departure of three faculty members on sabbatical leaves this fall.

Following are the new faculty personnel and the colleges from which they hold degrees: Stephen Jacobs, holder of degrees from Harvard, will join the faculty as an assistant professor of fine arts. He has taught at Princeton and Miami universities. Frederick Bowman will be an instructor in speech and debate; he attended College of Wooster and the University of California.

Donald Campbell, an instructor in American literature, holds degrees from Dartmouth and Harvard. Miss Helen Tanner attended Texas State College for Women and will teach physical education for women at Middlebury. Albert Ewell, Jr., psychology instructor, attended Haverford College. E. Kirk Roberts, chemistry, attended Earlham College. John Wheeler, Jr., is a graduate of Georgia and Florida State universities and will teach political science at Middlebury.

Dr. Walter Wilson of the University of Vermont faculty will serve as a lecturer in biology during the year on a part time basis. George Smith, Jr., a graduate of Williams and Harvard, will be an assistant instructor in English.

New faculty members who were appointed last spring include Dr. Lloyd Naramore, assistant professor of education; John Kreinheder, lecturer in engineering drawing; Mrs. Margaret Sprague, lecturer in home economics; Donald Beaumont, geology; Leslie Bigelow, philosophy; Paul Cubeta, English; John Handy, Jr., English; and Edward LeClair, Jr., economics.

Members of the ROTC Unit on the faculty are Lt. Colonel Stuart Williams, Captain Reinhold Hermann and Captain John Beaulieu.

College Buys
Four Houses
Midd Night Set
For Saturday

An attempt to relieve the housing situation for Middlebury faculty was undertaken this summer by the college with the purchase of four houses in the town, three in Chipman Park and one at 43 South Street.

The Calhoun house at 43 South Street will be made into apartments for faculty members. The three Chipman Park residences will be occupied by Lt. Col. Stuart Williams, commander of the ROTC Unit, Associate Professor Leonard Hoag and Thomas Reynolds of the history department.

Midd Night is scheduled for 8:00, Saturday at the Field House. This year ten speakers will talk on various phases of Middlebury life in order to acquaint the freshman men with the College.

Blue Key President Irving Morris '53 will introduce Dean of Men W. Storrs Lee, who will present the purpose of Midd Night. Dean of Women Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly will then speak on the social aspect of college. Following this, Professors Arthur K. D. Healy, Werner Neuse, P. Conant Voter, and Robert

Gen. Hobbs Welcomes Frosh;
Sophs Urged To Join ROTC

Major General Leland Hobbs, Deputy Army Commander of the First Army, welcomed incoming freshmen to the ROTC unit at the Field House on Wednesday afternoon. During World War II General Hobbs headed the 30th infantry division which saw action during five European campaigns from Normandy to the Elbe River. General Hobbs has also served in Hawaii, Trinidad, Europe, Japan and the Philippines. He holds the Distinguished Service Medal.

All freshmen are required to enter the ROTC unit unless they are physically unfit or are conscientious objectors. Other classes are not required to enroll but Lieutenant Colonel Stuart Williams, commander of the unit, has urged sophomores to enroll.

Sophomores with no previous military training may elect the basic course with the freshmen. At the completion of the basic course, these sophomores will then take the advanced course during their senior year in curtailed form.

Sophomores who attended accredited military schools may enroll immediately in the advanced course.

Men with high school ROTC service or with up to six months army service may complete the basic course in one year. A full year of military service or training in prep school ROTC entitles the student to enter the advanced course.

There will be two class hours a week for all students with a drill period on Friday. Uniforms must be worn only during the drill period and other specified functions, but students are free to wear the uniforms at any time as long as they are complete.

The ROTC unit has offices and classrooms on the first and second floors of the Field House. A rifle range on the third floor is planned for the future.

Skyline Plans
Freshman Fun

Mountain Club will play host to 374 additions to Middlebury at the annual Freshman Outing behind Forest Hall Saturday afternoon, September 20, from 2:00 to 6:30. The 24 members of Skyline will lead the initiates in games, songs, a scavenger hunt and feed, there being no regular supper scheduled for freshmen. Those attending are advised to sport the oldest of old clothes for the informal exercises.

375 Freshmen And Transfers

ROTC Grants
Deferments

Approximately ten men who would have been attending college this fall have been drafted into the armed services according to Storrs Lee, dean of men. The total number of Middlebury men taken into the service will not be known for several weeks.

ROTC students will be given an opportunity to obtain draft deferment during the two year basic course by signing a Draft Deferment Agreement which requires them to complete the four year course and to accept the commission in the Army. A student may, however, wait until beginning the advanced course before signing the agreement. Until he signs the agreement he will be subject to the draft.

Information is available at the Dean's office concerning the latest draft laws and how they apply to college students.

Radio Station
Begins 5th Year
Of Operation

WMCRS, the college radio station now entering its fifth year of broadcasting commenced operations last Sunday with a series of programs designed to acquaint the entering class with Middlebury life. The station plans to begin a regular schedule tomorrow. Plans call for a six day broadcasting week, Tuesday through Sunday, with approximately six hours of broadcasting each day.

William Brackett '53, president of the station, has announced that WMCRS has become a member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, an organization composed of about sixty stations. The IBS offers engineering advice to member stations and also provides national advertising for programs.

All dormitories on campus except Chateau and Battell South are wired for reception at 750 on the radio dial. As yet fraternities and off-campus buildings do not receive the broadcasts, but Matthew Baker '55, chief engineer, states that a strong signal will reach all college buildings and fraternities in the future.

Programs this year will be similar to other years with the emphasis on classical and popular music.

Senior Photos
To Be Taken

Senior portraits for the 1953 "Kaleidoscope" will be taken next Tuesday through Friday, September 23 through 26 by Sarony Studio of New York.

All seniors are urged to make their appointments immediately, either by signing the sheets that will be posted or by seeing Dorothy Kimball, photographic editor of the yearbook.

The fee, which is payable at the time of the sitting will be either two dollars for four poses or three dollars for six poses; the number of poses will be at the discretion of the student. All sitting fees will be deducted from any order of ten dollars or more that is placed with the photographer.

Middlebury College enrollment remained at the maximum level of 1200 students as 260 freshmen arrived on Sunday, September 14, to begin registration and freshmen orientation. The 217 freshman men and 143 women come from 20 states, Canada, Saudi Arabia, Denmark, Finland, France, Japan, and Puerto Rico. Eighty-four per cent of the entering students are from New England, New York, and New Jersey. Fifteen transfers, eight men and seven women, are also entering Middlebury in the college's 153rd academic year.

The newly reorganized student-faculty advisor program which was administered by the SEPC began to function on Monday when each group of eight freshmen met with a student and a faculty advisor.

Each student advisor discussed college activities and social life with his group for an hour in his room. Freshmen then had twenty minute conferences with their faculty advisors and planned their courses.

The 45 student advisors, 30 men and 15 women, worked with an equal number of faculty advisors. The men student advisors are seniors appointed by the SEPC, while the women student advisors are the junior women living in the freshmen dormitories as student counselors.

Wilks Income
Aids Salaries

Income on $1,645,391.82 received last year from the estate of Mrs. Hetty Silvia Howland Green Wilks has been applied toward salary raises for members of the faculty and employees of the administration.

Full professors have received an increase of 14% over their previous earnings, associate professors 11%, assistant professors 9%, and instructors and administration 7%.

Middlebury was one of a number of institutions, including the University of Vermont which received a similar amount, to receive money from the will of Mrs. Wilks, daughter of the famed financier, Hetty Green. Mrs. Wilks resided in Brattleboro, Vermont.

An estimated $800,000 is yet to be received from the estate, but this amount may be help up for several years due to litigation and other complications.

Student Law

Students at Middlebury are fortunate in attending a college where it is the policy rather than the exception to give student organizations responsibility in college affairs. After proving itself last year by taking effective action against car violators, the Judiciary Committee of the Men's Undergraduate Association will this year expand its treatment of car violations, plagiarism, damage to college property and violations of drinking rules. Their decisions will receive full publicity in the CAMPUS.

The job outlined for the Judiciary Committee is challenging for a small group of men. The six members of the committee were elected by the Men's Assembly, and they have the full cooperation of the dean. Nevertheless, the Judiciary Council will lose all the ground it has gained in the last year and become a mere figurehead unless it has the full cooperation of the men's college.

Pranks are to be expected, and they are not necessarily indications of low standards. But occasional pranks are not important when there is a sense of discipline among the student body.

Improvements

Along with the raise in salaries and the addition of new teachers to the faculty, the past summer saw many improvements around the campus by the buildings and grounds department. These improvements, we feel, should be noticed and appreciated by students who have, in the past, been quite critical about the work done around the campus.

Some of the more noticeable improvements have come in the college roads, most of which have been resurfaced. Those holes and bumps which plagued students with automobiles are for the most part eliminated. The Field House road, formerly a mire during the muddy season, is now nicely paved.

Parts of the Field House have been remodeled for the benefit of the ROTC so that the whole second floor is hardly recognizable to the returning student. However, athletic facilities for the students have not been impaired by the unit. In fact, students in the future may have access to the rifle range and the army guns and ammunition. The band also will benefit from army uniforms and instruments.

The tennis courts remain a problem. The courts were scheduled to be renovated this summer. Money was appropriated to resurface the asphalt courts and make three of the clay courts into asphalt. However, the operation bogged down somewhere so that at present three courts in poor condition are in use. Interest in recreational tennis is high among the students. It is apparent then, that all available courts should be put into shape as soon as possible.

For the most part, however, needed projects have been completed or at least started. Fire prevention measures, a new sidewalk to the Field House and treatment of Lang Field are all to the credit of the administration and the ground department. Let us have hope that the good work is continued.

Ignorance No Excuse

Ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking the law. The administration has announced a "get tough" policy for students who get into trouble because they do not know or do not understand the rules of the college.

Every man entering Middlebury College is given a college handbook which clearly outlines college rules, codes, and policies toward offenders. Apparently, few men have bothered to read these rules carefully enough to absorb anything of value. For instance, in his letter to the undergraduate men this fall Dean Lee mentioned several items which proved upsetting to many men. Phrases like "Men will not be permitted in the vicinity of women's dormitories after hours" alarmed those who foresaw the abolition of fraternity serenades. That rule has been on the books for many years; it was designed to prevent incidents like the now notorious "panty raids" of last spring. Students familiar with college rules realize that the dean's letter was meant for emphasis and not for change.

Read the rules! Ignorance is no excuse.

M. Klein will talk on their departments, humanities, languages, science, and social science, respectively. Professor Walter T. Bogart will discuss the role of fraternities in Middlebury life and Professor Arthur M. Brown will tell about athletics. Vice-President Stephen Freeman will give the summary address.

An innovation of this year's Midd Night will be the seating of the freshmen with their individual faculty advisors and student advisors.

New ID Cards Will Feature Student Photos

All Middlebury undergraduates will be carrying new type identification cards before the end of September. Each new ID card will carry the student's picture, birthdate, and signature with an overimpression of the college seal. The cards should be acceptable identification of the bearer as a Middlebury student in establishing identity or honoring checks.

The card will be used on campus for admission to all athletic events and concerts. It is not transferable, and cannot be replaced. Penalties will be imposed for misuse of the card or alteration of the information on it.

Upperclassmen can get their ID cards at the Field House now, and freshmen will be able to get their cards next week. Students are requested to carry their cards at all times.

Issuance of the cards at Middlebury is in line with efforts in other colleges to prevent cases involving impersonation of students and resulting in considerable loss of money to both students and businessmen.

Young G.O.P.'s Plan Program

The Young Republican Club of Middlebury College has begun plans for its fall program with its first meeting scheduled for some time in the very near future.

During the coming weeks the club will sponsor several prominent speakers from outside the college including an eye-witness account of the Republican National Convention. Marylee Wells '53 president of the club will give a summary of the recent Eisenhower speech in Philadelphia and a personal interview with him.

"Green Men" With Blue Hats Taste Old Middlebury Spirit

By Mel Gussow

Minus the bluest key of all, Bill Trask, Freshman Week still goes on, and on, and on, all seven days of it.

On Sunday the "unknowing" ones arrived, anticipating many ensuing problems: snobby sophomores, stiffly-competed for freshmen, lost keys, lost books, lost beanies, lost souls, lost dates, last dates.

But, by now those green things (with the blue hats), for the most part, have adjusted themselves to the hectic Midd life. They have had their first "delicious" meal - this year a complete break from the usual grilled cheese "dreams" - this year it was scrumptious cold cuts and potato salad, a symbol of what's to come.

After dinner, or whatever you call it, the men met those defenders of the Midd spirit, the Blue Key; the women met those defenders of women's rights, the junior counselors.

Monday was the annual fall event - the English placement test, then registration and a meeting with the student advisors, and at 8:00 the Blue Key Freshman Dance was held, and once again it was for freshmen only (at least it was supposed to be only for freshmen). Some more tests and meetings were on Tuesday, including informal talks by Vice-President Freeman and Dean Kelly.

Chapel started yesterday and the President's Tea (or more applicably, the President's Punch) took place. But, today Freshman Week was shoved from the limelight as classes began and frolicking ceased, for a while, because Saturday is the Freshman Outing. (Note to freshmen: Beware the Rabbit.)

Perhaps the biggest event also is on Saturday - Midd Night for men at the Field House and Middlebury Night for women at the high school gym where freshmen get a real taste of Middlebury.

Roads, Chapel, Dorms Receive Improvements

Crews and equipment have paved several campus roads this summer. This paving is one of many improvements and maintenance projects being carried out at the college under the direction of John H. Kreinheder, superintendent of buildings and grounds. A pack-and-seal coat was given Old Chapel Road, the Battell drives, and the areas immed'ely around the Service Building and McCullough Gymnasium. Scheduled for similar paving are the Porter Field road and the Memorial Field House drive.

Renovations on the second floor of the field house were made to accommodate the new ROTC headquarters and equipment. The commanding officer will have his office on the first floor, with all other military personnel quartered upstairs.

A small chapel has been added to Mead Chapel to the right of the lectern, as have a new altar and console organ.

Further protection against fire for women students will come in the form of sprinkler systems to be installed in the Chateau and Pearson Hall this fall. The Chateau interior was decorated during the summer.

The home economics department in Recitation Hall has been entirely redecorated. Notable changes are a new entrance and new cooking equipment.

Double bunks to accommodate some 85 Panther football candidates have been placed on the top floor of the Field House, a new housing arrangement for the squad. Football practice began on Wednesday morning, Sept. 3, and the team has been fed at the Chateau.

Earlier in the summer the sidewalk from Chi Psi Lodge to the Field House was built. McCullough Gymnasium has a new stage floor and will soon have new tile floor in the locker rooms.

Among the many other projects now completed or in progress are: remodeling of the organic laboratory in the Chemistry Building; construction of offices on the balcony of the Playhouse; grading and seeding of Lane Field; and erection of a fire escape on the Storrs Avenue house occupied by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Stratton Back For Brief Visit

President Samuel Stratton visited Middlebury briefly during August while in the United States for three weeks of conferences with State Department officials concerning his duties as Point Four Director in Saudi Arabia.

Arriving in Middlebury on a Sunday morning, President Stratton met with college officials including Vice-President Freeman and then, making a "flying visit" in more ways than one, he returned to Washington by plane at noon.

The president reported that his work in Saudi Arabia was proceeding satisfactorily but that, by American standards, it was very slow. He said that he had not been able to accomplish as much as he had originally planned although he could not specifically describe the reasons for the slowdown.

Two Promotions Made On Faculty

Dr. Stephen A. Freeman, vice-president of the college, announced two faculty promotions this week. Dr. Pardon Tillinghast of the history department has been promoted from instructor to assistant professor, and David Seeley, Middlebury graduate and former assistant in the biology department, has been promoted to instructor.

The annual Anthology of College Poetry has announced its annual competition for college students. Students may submit original verse to be considered for possible publication. Details of the contest may be secured in the CAMPUS office.

"The Meaning of Academic Freedom" is the subject of a $5000 essay contest conducted by the National Council of Jewish Women. A total of five prizes will be awarded for the best 2500 word essays on this topic by college seniors (Class of 1953). For further details and application forms consult the CAMPUS office.

The CAMPUS returned this week to find eight letters requesting and demanding payment of last June's telephone bill. There was a conspicuous absence of telephones in the editorial and business offices. After sending the remittance, the staff is awaiting the return of Bell's handy little invention.

Dr. Stephen Freeman, vice-president of the college, will speak in the student assemblies on Friday and Saturday. Dr. Freeman will discuss the purposes of education at the junior-senior assembly and the more practical aspects of Middlebury life at the freshman-sophomore assembly.

Miss Helen Tanner, new instructor of physical education for women, will act as house director in Forest West. Miss Tanner attended Texas State College for Women.

Other house directors are: Mlle. Lea Binand, Chateau; Mrs. Edith Foster, Pearsons; Miss Lillian Hunter, Weybridge; Mrs. Selma Jones, Hillcrest; Miss Fleda Martin, Willard; Mrs. Ruth Murray, Battell North; Mrs. Gertrude Peterson, Battell South; Mrs. Hugh Slevin, Forest East; Mrs. Grace Thompson, Porter House; and Senorita Marina Bourgeal, Casa Espanola.

Beginning with this issue, the CAMPUS will be published by the Addison County Press of Middlebury. This marks the first time in many years that the paper has been printed by a local concern.

Here And There

By Rod MacDonald and Bob Kelly

Due to the temporary absence of the CAMPUS sports editor, Frank Sullivan, the column this week is being produced by the combined efforts of a skeleton three-man sports staff. This being the birth of a new year, athletically as well as scholastically, there is a dearth of world shaking events to report. Nevertheless, several perennial items rear their ugly heads and demand notice in this corner.

Courts

Last June, under the able though tardy direction of Mr. Kreinheder, the tennis courts were finally put into shape. Amidst the hustle and bustle of finals and graduation, we took due notice of this fact and though wondering at the amount of time consumed by the grounds-keeping forces, we nevertheless left for home feeling sure that September and our return would find the courts in perfect condition. In the words of a noted comic, "Wha' happen?" The nets are down and the grass is up.

Band

One week from Saturday, Middlebury will field its 1952 football team and we hope, a band to go with it. We know that the team will be there, but whether the band is depends upon the cooperation of the students. Last year the band was good, despite various and sundry remarks to the contrary. It made loud noises and marched and that is what it's there for. After breaking an old Middlebury tradition in 1950 by allowing a young co-ed to lead the band, it went hog-wild last year with the result that not one but three young co-eds were high stepping it out in front.

A band and majorettes are a must if the spirit of years past is to be continued. With this in mind we hope that the first call for musicians brings the largest turnout ever.

Sailing

Hearty congratulations to Skipper Pat Hinman '55 who proved herself sailing's answer to Maureen Connelly this summer by winning the United States Woman's Sailing Championship. More on Pat in a future issue when we can get hold of her for an interview. That seems to be all until Frank gets back and in closing, what's happening to the Dodgers?

Jan Luytjes Captures 3 Net Titles

Jan Luytjes, Middlebury's gift to tennis, added to his laurels this summer by retaining his crown in the Vermont State Closed Tournament and by walking off with top honors in the Vermont State Open Championships. In both finals, Luytjes defeated Harry Kirsch of Newfane, Vermont and Cornell University. Kirsch was once junior champion of Czechoslovakia. Jan teamed up with Kirsch to take the doubles in the Open Championships. Besides gaining these victories, Luytjes played in the National Doubles Tournament at Longwood, again teamed up with Kirsch.

This weekend, Jan has been asked to play in an invitation tournament at Dartmouth. Upwards of 40 players, chiefly from Ivy League schools are slated to compete.

Middlebury Eleven Shapes Up Under Coach Nelson

Season's Prospects Look Good As Panther's Defeat R.P.I. In Scrimmage

Since Thursday, September 4, the 1952 edition of the Middlebury football team has been working out under the direction of Coach Duke Nelson aided by assistant Bobo Sheehan. Double sessions have been the order of the day and thanks to almost daily scrimmages, Duke feels that the team is well ahead of last year as far as assimilation of plays goes.

However, the problem of personnel looms large on the horizon as replacements are sorely needed for such outstanding players as quarterback Dick Rathburn, center Dick Day and halfback Bob Stalker, all of whom were lost by graduation. It is thus evident that the team will be green down the middle and it will take time before experienced quarterbacking can be expected.

As of last Monday, the squad was 58 strong, 17 of whom were freshmen. Some cuts are expected but Coach Nelson expects to open the season with about a 45 man complement.

The season's first is to be played a week from Saturday at Porter Field with Wesleyan as the opposition. So far, the team has engaged in two informal scrimmages; with St. Michael's and with

R.P.I. No score was kept against St. Mike's, but in the R.P.I. scrimmage, Middlebury was declared the unofficial victor by a score of 16-6. Against St. Mike's each team ran off sixty offensive plays, the average number used in a game. Duke used the entire squad in an attempt to discover those most proficient at the various positions. Two touchdowns, one conversion and a field goal were registered against R.P.I. who was held scoreless until the final minute of play when a blocked kick set up their sole score. Dick Makin did the majority of the kicking, a position that he will fill throughout the season.

The team will as usual rely upon a ground attack, but the passing of Dick Allen, Harry Myers and Makin and the receiving of Sonny Dennis and Buzz Tilton will make the air arm a formidable weapon. As last year, a modified two-platoon system will be used with eight man offensive and defensive units and three sixty minute men.

Cross Country Squad Hopeful to Start Workouts

A rugged six meet schedule opens for the Middlebury cross country team Oct. 18 when the Panthers play host to Amherst. Although the season's start is still a month off, squad training has been going on since the start of school.

The outlook for this year's team is definitely hazy. Despite the fact that no one has been lost through graduation several key men have been lost for various reasons. Thus it is that Coach Arthur Brown is counting heavily on the freshman and sophomore classes for new material. Back again this year is Captain Roger May along with John Morgan, Bill Marseilles, Mal McConnell, Ted Haviland, Ed Thompson, Henrik Thommessen and Win Tremaine. All of the aforementioned have won their letters and should form a good nucleus for the 1952 team.

Missing from the lineup for the first time in four years will be Ed Hickcox who is rumored to have renounced the sport for a literary career. A bright note however is
